

Street Caving In.

About 100 feet of embankment, carrying with it a small section of curbing went down yesterday at the north end of Tennessee street in the 500 block, due to the heavy rains of Sunday night, which washed away the dirt which the city had hauled there this spring when that portion of Tennessee street was paved. It appears quite evident that unless work is done there soon more of the embankment and part of the paved street will go down.